

JL CHAVE SELECTION Hermitage Blanche 2017

JEB DUNNUCK

98 POINTS

“Cut from the same cloth, the 2017 Hermitage Blanc is stunning stuff, and Chave lovers should unquestionably have bottles of this in the cellar. Bottled in August of this year, its medium gold hue is followed by a mammoth bouquet of quince, flower oil, buttered almonds, and brioche. Every bit as good on the palate, it's full-bodied, has a stacked mid-palate, flawless balance, and incredible minerality as well as length on the finish. It's insanely good today, and while this cuvée can shut down, I wonder if this ever will. My money is on this drinking fabulously well for 25+ years. Life is too short not to drink as much Chave Hermitage Blanc as possible!”
